Career Research and Development Program

What is it?

- Completer program in which students have a reduced school schedule and earn credits for work. Students need to find their own employment. However, placement assistance is available.

What are the requirements?

- Application to program is required. Students should register for a full schedule of classes.
- 4 Total Credits for Completer = 2 required courses + 2 credits for work.
  - The Introduction to Career Research and Development (CRD) course provides students with instruction in career awareness and career exploration. Students will take interest and ability assessments and learn how to apply their results to career options.
  - The Advanced Career Research and Development course focuses on career research, career preparation, and transition from high school to future education and training. Students learn about their post high school options, including four-year college, community college, trade school, and apprenticeship programs. They also study resume writing, interviewing, financial literacy, and work ethics. Students will produce a portfolio appropriate for job interviews.
